Key person life insurance

Protect the continuity of your business

For the life of your business

Key person life insurance

Insure the key people who are essential to your business' success.

Most companies have at least one person whose skills are vital to the success of the business. A key person may be an owner, partner, or employee.

Without this key person, your business would suffer serious consequences.

- loss of credit
- loss of key accounts
- diminished earnings
- unexpected replacement costs

... Or even the loss of your remaining employees' confidence in the future of the company.

This strategy is designed to protect a business from financial loss at the death of a key person.

How it works

Key employee life insurance

The employer purchases a life insurance policy on the employee and is the owner, premium payor, and beneficiary of the policy.

Upon death of key employee

If death occurs, death benefits are paid to the employer and are generally received free of federal income taxes.

Upon retirement of key employee

At the employee's retirement, the policy's cash value may be used by the employer to supplement the employee's retirement income through policy loans and withdrawals¹ or to help recruit a replacement. Income to the employee is taxable.

Details

Features	Description
Key employee life insurance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide cash to offset the loss of profits due to the death of a key employee. • Allocate funds to recruit and train a qualified replacement. • Protect the company's credit position by reassuring banks and other creditors that the company will have the resources to honor its obligations, even if it loses a key employee. • Provide a financial hedge against a loss in business value.
Federal income tax	Life insurance proceeds are generally received free of federal income tax. However, if the policy does not meet the notice and consent provisions under Internal Revenue Code section 101(j), proceeds in excess of the amount of premium paid will be included in the employer's income. Because the business has an interest in the tax-free death benefit, premium payments are not tax deductible.
Alternative minimum tax	Death benefits and cash value accumulation may be subject to the alternative minimum tax.
Heirs	If the employee is also a part-owner in the business, proceeds can be used to buy the employee's interest from the employee's heirs or estate.
Eligibility	The employer can be selective about which employees to cover. Key employee life insurance may be used in most business entities.
Retirement benefit	Key employee life insurance may be used for providing benefits to the employee under a non-qualified deferred compensation plan. At retirement, the policy's cash value may be used to provide retirement income to the employee. ¹

Strength and stability since 1906

With over 115 years of business under our belt, Midland National's continued and consistent financial strength is a result of our conservative and disciplined investment strategy, our private ownership structure, and doing what is right for our policyowners.

Privately owned and customer focused

As a privately owned company, Midland National is not subject to the short-term earnings pressures that publicly held companies often face. We are a company with plans to perpetuate itself for hundreds of years, not the next quarter or the next fiscal year. We focus on the long term. We focus on you.

High ratings for financial strength

Independent agency ratings provide a vital picture of an insurer's ability to keep its commitments to you, the customer. As a company, we've received A+ marks from A.M. Best, Fitch Ratings, and S&P Global Ratings.² These ratings are based on financial strength, operating performance, and the ability to meet our obligations to our policyowners and contract holders. Our consistently high ratings show that with Midland National, you aren't just buying a product. You are buying a commitment to you and your family.

Midland National does not provide legal or tax advice. Please consult with a qualified legal or tax advisor before entering into or paying additional premiums with respect to such arrangements.

1. Policy loans from life insurance policies generally are not subject to income tax, provided the contract is not a Modified Endowment Contract (MEC), as defined by Section 7702A of the Internal Revenue Code. A policy loan or withdrawal from a life insurance policy that is a MEC is taxable upon receipt to the extent cash value of the contract exceeds premium paid. Distributions from MECs are subject to federal income tax to the extent of the gain in the policy and taxable distributions are subject to a 10% additional tax prior to age 59½, with certain exceptions. Policy loans and withdrawals will reduce cash value and death benefit. Policy loans are subject to interest charges. Consult with and rely on your tax advisor or attorney on your specific situation.

Income and growth on accumulated cash values is generally taxable only upon withdrawal. Adverse tax consequences may result if withdrawals exceed premiums paid into the policy. Withdrawals or surrenders made during a Surrender Charge period will be subject to withdrawal charges and may reduce the ultimate death benefit and cash value. Surrender charges vary by product, issue age, sex, underwriting class, and policy year.

2. A.M. Best is a large third-party independent reporting and rating company that rates an insurance company on the basis of the company's financial strength, operating performance, and ability to meet its obligations to contract holders. A+ (Superior) is the second highest rating out of 15 categories, and was affirmed for Midland National Life Insurance Company as part of Sammons Financial Group on August 13, 2025.

A+ Stable Rated by Fitch Ratings. Fitch Ratings, a global leader in financial information services and credit ratings, on June 17, 2025, assigned an Insurer Financial Strength rating of A+ Stable for Midland National. This rating is the fifth highest of 19 possible rating categories. The rating reflects the organization's strong business profile, low financial leverage, very strong statutory capitalization and strong operating profitability supported by strong investment performance.
